

EVOLUTION JET
French Riviera charter broker

Evolution Jet was founded in October 2010, during dire economic times, as signs of a recovery still remained to be felt. Marc Lile, owner of an airline company based in Malta, and aircraft broker Aymeric Even, decided to get together, bringing their experience, skills and knowledge to create a reliable company, founded on their deep understanding of the industry. Both men were expatriates and wanted to restore respectability to the 'French-style' service into the industry.

Evolution Jet has its headquarters in Grasse, and is quick to react at the service of passengers departing from Cannes or Nice Airports, two of the busiest business aviation platforms in Europe. The philosophy of the company is to help the customer and assist them in their aircraft acquisition. The sales team of five has direct access to more than 3000 aircraft worldwide. They are able to send a maximum of quotes within twenty minute and to set up a flight in less than two hours. Two exclusive products are on offer. With EJI Premium Service, the customer has access to all of Evolution Jet's services for free. There are no extra cost, no commission; the client pays the actual amount charged by the operator. There is an annual membership fee, with a choice of 3 different subscriptions according to the duration of the commitment. With EJI Deposit service, created to avoid time-consuming payment process, a special account is created the customer feeds with any chosen amount, and all he or she has to do is to give his/her agreement to the company to pay for his/her charters on private jets, yachts, ground transportation and any other luxury service. The deposit can be refunded at any time. Furthermore, rich of its extended commercial and operational experience, the company also offers aircraft sales management.

GULFSTREAM AEROSPACE
Revamped Website & New Mobile App

Gulfstream Aerospace Corp. has redesigned MyGulfstream.com and launched a corresponding iPad app.

"The website and app are designed exclusively for customers and operators and offer greater mobility when it comes to obtaining information from Gulfstream," said Mark Burns, president, Gulfstream Product Support. MyGulfstream.com, the company's secure, password-protected customer website, offers improved performance, search capabilities, content organization and navigation. It is also optimized across mobile platforms. Additionally, customers can receive critical information right in the palm of their hands with the MyGulfstream app. The site, built using all-new hardware and software platforms, features a comprehensive collection of product support materials; access to the Gulfstream Network, a multimedia network featuring videos, discussions and tutorials; the latest aircraft information; a connection to the online Computerized Maintenance Program; as well as a technical publications library and the latest Gulfstream news. In addition to the customer- and aircraft-specific data available on MyGulfstream.com, the site provides customers with access to customer bulletins, maintenance and operations letters and Gulfstream events. Customers also can access weather, stocks and other customizable links through MyGulfstream.com. The MyGulfstream app brings Gulfstream's customer portal to the iPad and gives customers access to important articles. The app includes technical bulletins, aircraft documents and alert notifications. Other features include the ability to download and save documents on the mobile device for offline viewing, personalized push notifications that alert the user when specific information is updated, and the ability to view the latest news from Gulfstream. The MyGulfstream app can be downloaded from the App Store, or at mygulfstreamapp.com. An account with the MyGulfstream customer portal is required to view secure content on both the app and MyGulfstream.com.
